

Session Summary
Timothy Woodcome

Counterfeit Parts Prevention

Counterfeit component parts infiltrating the supply chain is a growing issue in many electronics-based industries, including Information and Communications Technologies. This presentation will put this multi-billion dollar problem into perspective and provide potential risk mitigation solutions via a management system approach.